about him with entreaties and tears in their eyes. Mark it well.

ADOPT CEMENT SIDEWALKS.

We notice the absence of substantial walks in Boise, especially leading from the elegant depot to the business center of town. The route so traversed by visitors is not in keeping with your resources, and there is no vaid reason why action in the premises should be longer delayed. True, you do not have the rains and mu inflicted upon other cities to tell against foot passengers, but of this visitors do not stop to consider in your favor. They naturally expect good cement walks, or stone flagging, and failing to find them, put your people down as not alone primitive in their simple tastes, but actually unmindful of what constitutes a city's schief attraction; i.e., good walks. With chief attraction; i. e., good walks. With this gentle reminder, we hope to wit-ness changes within the ensuing twelve months, and all who oppose it must be termed willful obstructionists.

A MODEL POLICE FORCE.

Let me state, from extended personal observation, that Boise has a police force that is an honor to the city and people. This in view of the fact that its executive ability is enhanced by the fearless manner the officers discharge their duty. Wealth and position is no bid for immunity from the law when violated, and the high-priced aristocrat is picked up on the streets and thrown in jail in common with the day laborer for any infraction of the ordinances governing. The picture as briefly outlined is so refreshing to all fair-minded people, and likewise suggestive of untrainmeled efficiency of an order compelling admiration, that I must here and now take off my hat to the force.

WOOD FLOATING DOWN THE A MODEL POLICE FORCE.

WOOD FLOATING DOWN THE RIVER. RIVER.

Floating wood down the Boise river is an enterprise in itself, and bids fair to be enlarged as time goes on. Here are extensive wood yards maintained by the Aveline Brothers, and at all sensons of the year is to be witnessed thousands of cords of wood pilled up adjacent to the river, from whence it has been taken after a voyage of miles and miles down the swiftly flowing stream. This firm has been in the business for fourteen years, and their sales average 6,000 cords a year. It retails for $5 per cord here, and the men in the mountains who cut and dump it in the river are paid $1.50 per cord for their labor. Other men are employed as "floaters," whose duty it is to go along the stream and liberate the great ratis of wood wherever found "hung up." As the cargo comes straggling rafts of wood wherever found "hun up." As the cargo comes stragglin siong, at this point there is anchore "shore guides," and at such angle a will propel the wood along, but all the while directing it towards the level beach where men take it from the wa beach where men take it from the water, and cord it up to await home consumption.

SAW MILLS COMING TO BOISE.

Arrangements are being perfected for removal of saw mills from Fayette county to Boise, and for the purpose of getting their saw timber floated down the river, of which there is an inexhantsible supply for thirty-five miles above, and also being at a market point using much itself, and thus saying freight charges. There is no denying the fact that the great forests up the river mean much to this city. The great miles south of here, require that timber in great abundance, and the people here require recipionity in abundance. There is strong talk of another railroad for Boise, and that's what she needs. The people here are awake to what a railroad from those great mines to the capital would mean, and afterward it could be successfully pushed ahead into the north to the sind afterward it could be successfully pushed ahead into the north to the Seven Devils country.

I have fully investigated this end of the proposed route, its revenues to be derived from the general resources contiguous thereto, and with a view of ascertaining precisely what are the inducements to offer at the other end, together with the probable cost, taking into consideration the nature of the work, grades, curvature, formation, etc., I intend going into that country in person for desired statistics. These I will get, and upon presentation in detail to the public, will annex such comment as warranted by a past knowledge of railroad building, and in mountainous sections in the years agone. If from careful and thorough inspection I find it the revenues would justify building the line, I shall so advocate, giving facts and figures in corroboration. If I find it the reverse, I will be compelled to so state.

SENATOR DUBOIS AFRADO OF THE

Boise, Ida, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Last Monday was a day of great unrest for Idaho Republicans, nor was this unrest among the g. o. p. confined to one states of the glorious Union—indeed it was not! The Sait Lake Heraid was the Sunday paper cortained a racy interview with Senator Dubois, and every note of it sounded in Republican ears with doleful and chilling intensity. What they feared was even then taking definite shape—something must be done. As soon as The Heraid arrived and commenced circulating about of feet in quest of the senator, or someone near to him who could explain, or mayhap deny for him the interview. And as the hours wore on, the evidement grow apace. Yesterday morrhing, the Statesman came out editorially as follows:
